Education Enhancement Grants - Spring - 2020
Monitoring Emotions Enhancing Self Awareness	Craddock	This grant was prompted by a segment about a Colorado school featured on the Today tv show. This program request would provide wrist monitors (think Fitbits) for students that would monitor and record physical reactions throughout the day indicating to the students that they are experiencing stressful and anxious events. This technology would augment the established curricular program "Self Emotional Learning" (SEL) of teaching students to be aware of their emotions and "self regulate" themselves.
Tami Mazzella	2-Jan		$4,420.00
Living Library	High School	This project will provide materials to convert and create a portion of the library as a plant growing area where any students can voluntarily learn about and monitor growing their own plants and vegetables. This opportunity can be used as an independent study venue or in coordination with the science curriculum.
Kathleen Berry	9-12		$1,380.00
Media Center eBooks	Harmon	This request will provide 125 eBooks for in-house and student online access through the students chrome books, therefore accessible 24/7 all year long. A media center program of this type is not now in existence.
